TO THE PUBLIC.

The value of this book will at once be appreciated, to some extent, by the business-man, who has often wished for, but never could procure, the information it contains. It may be well, however, to name the following as

SOME ADVANTAGES OF THE WORK:

1st. The arrangement adopted of grouping the Offices by States and Counties will prove convenient to Publishers, Merchants, Inventors, Politicians, and business men generally, who have occasion to send circulars and other documents to all the Post Offices in a given district.

2d. Jobbers and others being solicited to give credit to parties from distant places can readily judge, by referring to this book, what would be a reasonable amount of credit to give; for by comparing the revenue of an office where a customer has credit to the amount of say $5,000, with the revenue of an office from which a stranger comes, it will be easy to decide whether the latter would be likely to need credit for more or less than $5,000.

It is said that the late Daniel Webster once remarked that there was no more reliable guide to the size and importance of the various towns in the United States than the revenue of their respective Post Offices.

This statement of the Post Office Revenues has formerly been given only in the official "Blue Book," but is here furnished in a cheap and popular form.

- 3d. The fact that the name of the County Seat of each County is given in italics, will make the work valuable to the Legal Profession.
- 4th. Postmasters will observe that the Postal Laws in the Appendix, which have never before been codified, are here systematized in such a manner as to make them perfectly comprehensible.
- 5th. The information contained in the first sixteen pages, relative to the Rates of Postage, the Franking Privilege, Rules for Mailing Letters, etc., will be valuable to all persons having occasion to send or receive matter through the mails.
- 6th. It will be valuable to Emigrants and Speculators, in showing the development and productiveness of a State or a County, by the number and revenue of its Post Offices.

7th. This is the only work of the kind published; the Author, Mr. D. D. T. Leech, is the compiler of the List of Post Offices and Postal Regulations in use at the Post Office Department, and the work may therefore be relied upon as correct.

Entered, according to Act of Congress, in the year 1856, by

CHAPTER I.

ITS HISTORY.

As a means of civilization the Post Office ranks next to the pulpit, the school-house, and the press. No other of the executive departments of the General Government is so closely allied to the necessities and interests of the public as this. Its progress and mode of operation are, therefore, worthy of consideration.

The American postal establishment was controlled by the British government till 1776, when the Continental Congress took it into their own hands, and appointed Benjamin Franklin their Postmaster General, giving him, at the same time, almost unlimited discretion as to its management. He, however, being called to other public trusts, resigned the post the following year, when his son-in-law, Richard Bache, was appointed in his stead, who in turn, in 1782, was succeeded by Ebenezer Hazard.

Prior to 1789, when the Federal Government took this and the other U. S. executive offices in hand, the operations of the concern were small; owing, doubtless, mainly to the paralyzing effects of the Revolutionary War upon commerce and social correspondence—its postage receipts having averaged only about $30,000 per annum for the thirteen years previous.

In 1790 there were but seventy-five post offices in the United States. The following is a statement of the revenue of a few of these as compared with a period sixty-five years later, viz.:

New York in 1789—$5,537 per an.; in 1855—$492,972 | Baltimore in 1789—$3,987 per an.; in 1855—$97,290 | Philadelphia " " 9,674 " " " 159,870 | Richmond " " 2,994 " " " " " 19,080 | Boston " " 3,695 " " " " " 149,378 | Charleston " " 1,7040 " " " " " 30,397

The new Federal Government having power to enforce laws in all parts of the Union in regard to the punishment of offenders against the postal regulations, without the aid of the State authorities, of course infused new vigor into the establishment. The return of the people to peaceful pursuits also added to its prosperity. Henceforward its course was widening and onward, commensurate with the advance of the country in other respects.

The following persons have successively presided over the concern since this period, viz.:

The establishment may be considered as in its infancy till the close of the second war in 1815, when its post offices amounted to but 3,000, and its annual postage receipts to less than three-fourths of a million of dollars.

Hitherto, horseback, wagon, and the slowly trudging coach had constituted its exclusive reliance for the transmission of the mails. The general introduction of the steam-paddle about this period added a valuable auxiliary to its facilities for this purpose between places contiguous to the seaboard or rivers. The unshackling of commerce resulting from the termination of a naval war, and the commencing march of immigration to the new settlements in the Western States, tended at the same time to give a fresh impetus to the operations of the Post Office; so that its receipts more than doubled in the next fifteen years, amounting in 1830 to $1,850,583.

The author of the "Columbiad" had sung, as far back as 1808,

"Soon shall thy arm, unconquered steam, afar— Drag the slow barge or drive the rapid car."

But it was not till the inauguration of the railway enterprise, in 1835, that the full realization of this prophecy burst upon the public view. Perhaps no one of the great interests of the nation has shared more largely in the benefits conferred by this Herculean motive power than the Post Office. Throughout the settled portions of the country the iron horse prances swiftly along with the great mails, to the great discomfiture of his tardy fleshly predecessor and competitor.

In view of the speed and regularity of the railroad mails, and the vast increase in matter sent in the mail bags, railroads may be said to have revolutionized the postal facilities of the nation. Now-a-days, while the merchant takes his nightly slumber, his letters fly, as if borne by the wings of the wind, to points three or four hundred miles distant; and the New York morning papers, instead of taking three or four days, as formerly, to reach Buffalo, Boston, or Washington, furnish the residents of those cities the staple for tea-table chat on the evenings of their publication day. Owing, too, to the precision in the times of the train arrivals, the community are enabled to judge with almost unerring certainty as to the proper moment for making application at the post offices for expected correspondence, a convenience, all will admit, of the utmost importance.

A desideratum amounting almost to a public necessity remained to be effected. reduction in the postage rates. Prior to 1845 the charge for a letter going over 30 miles was 10 cents, and for one going over 150 miles 183 cents; and should these enclose one or two bank-notes, or other pieces of paper, double or treble of said sums. These rates were entirely too high. The law of this year fixed the tariff on a single letter at five cents for distances not over 300 miles, and ten cents for greater distances, and conceded the further justice of regarding as single letters all weighing not over half an ounce, without regard to the number of their enclosures. Modifications were also made by this statute in favor of printed matter. Subsequent laws, the public are aware, have further cheapened the rates for letters, and greatly diminished the tax on newspapers, pamphlets, and magazines. In consequence, the poorest citizen is no longer debarred the privileges of the mail, and the business of the Post Office has been wonderfully augmented. The morning and evening mails issuing from some of our large cities, which filled, twenty-five years ago, only the boot of a coach, or the space under the driver's seat, now require as many spacious railroad cars for their convenient transmission. That the public intelligence, the commercial prosperity, and the social advantages of the nation have been immensely promoted by the enlarged postal facilities alluded to, we think all will allow.

As an indication of the vast operations of the department at the present, we have simply to state that its expenditures, for the year ending 30 June, 1855, amounted to $10,579,809.29 and its receipts, to 6,642,136.12

ORGANIZATION OF THE DEPARTMENT.

THE General Post Office is located in an elegant marble edifice 204 feet in length, with wings 116 feet deep, situated on a slight eminence fronting the Potomac, about midway between the U.S. Capitol and the President's House. To afford its employees adequate accommodation it is now being greatly enlarged. The Department proper, made up of the Postmaster General, his three assistants, and eighty-four clerks, occupies the western portion of the structure. The eastern portion is used by the settling branch, consisting of the Auditor, and one hundred and ten clerks. The Postmaster General distributes the business under his supervision among four bureaus, styled Appointment, Contract, Finance, and Inspection, respectively in charge of an assistant, or of his chief clerk.

The Appointment bureau, of which the 1st Assistant Postmaster General is the head, enrolls eighteen clerks on its list, and supervises all matters connected with the establishment, discontinuance, or change of site of post offices, the appointment, removal, and general instruction of postmasters, as well as the foreign mail service. The Contract bureau is in charge of the 2d Assistant, who has twenty-five clerks. It embraces in its sphere of duty the arranging, placing under contract, and keeping in operation, of the various mail routes. The Finance office, under the direction of the 3d Assistant, who is aided by twenty-two clerks, attends to so much of the fiscal operations of the establishment as the law has not expressly devolved upon the Auditor. This officer receives the quarterly returns of postmasters, instructs them as to the mode of paying over their balances, makes drafts for the collection and transfer of the Department's funds, and issues warrants on the Treasury Department for balances due mail contractors and others. The dead-letter business also falls under his management. The Inspection bureau, in charge of the chief clerk, employs nineteen clerks, supervises the performance of mail contractors, investigates reported cases of depredations on the mails, and conducts the correspondence connected with the distribution of mail bags, locks and keys. The Auditor and his large force of clerks examine the quarterly accounts of the numerous postmasters, adjust the accounts of all ex-postmasters, and conduct the correspondence connected therewith, as well as make quarterly settlements with all mail contractors and other agents of the Department. His office is a branch of the Treasury Department, and is located in the Post Office building simply for convenient consultation with the Post Office authorities, (through whom the accounts he settles originate,) and ready reference to their records. As this officer is competent to refuse the payment of allowances authorized by the Postmaster General which he may deem illegal, he operates as a check upon the latter.

The outside machinery of the establishment embraces 25,000 postmasters, 6,000 mail contractors, 400 route agents, (traveling postmasters,) 1,000 mail messengers—conveying the mails between the railroad depots or steamboat landings and the adjacent post offices—and about 50 special and local agents. If to this list be added the clerks employed in post offices—supposed to average one for eachand the postriders and drivers-say three for each route-it appears that the post office army embraces a rank and file of about 75,000. How numerous an organization for an establishment less than three-fourths of a century old!

CHAPTER III.

LETTER POSTAGES.

1. The law requires the postage on all letters to be prepaid, except those to foreign countries, and those on official business to government officers having the franking privilege. But prepayment on drop letters (not to be mailed) is optional.

2. Single letters passing in the mails distances not over 3,000 miles, between offices in the United States, are to be charged three cents; and for distances over 3,000 miles ten cents. Double letters are charged double these rates, treble ones, treble, and so on.

- 3. Letters passing from one office to another within the United States or Territories, also those going between places in the United States and the British North American Provinces, are rated as single if not exceeding half an ounce in weight; double if exceeding half an ounce but not exceeding an ounce; treble if exceeding an ounce but not exceeding an ounce and a half, and so on.
 - 4. Drop letters are charged one cent each.
- 5. Single letters to or from any of the British North American Provinces are charged ten cents for distances not exceeding 3,000 miles, and for greater distances fifteen cents. Double letters pay double, and treble ones treble these rates.

6. It is unlawful to place in a post office, to be transmitted by mail, within the United States, an envelope or packet containing letters addressed to different persons.

7. Handbills, circulars, or other printed matter, containing any manuscript writing, are subject to letter postage; so are all packets so closely enveloped, or sealed, that their contents cannot be known.

8. Advertised letters are charged one cent additional to the ordinary postage.

9. Letters brought by ships and packets to ports in the United States, or passing from one port therein to another, are to be rated six cents each, when delivered from the office at which they were first received; when forwarded thence by mail to other offices (instead of said six cents) simply, two cents in addition to the ordinary rates of postage.

10. The charge to the persons addressed upon letters and packets received at post offices from the masters, clerks, or other employees of steamboats, on waters deemed post routes, is the same as if they had been conveyed on land routes.

CHAPTER IV.

POSTAGE ON PRINTED MATTER.

1. The postage on each newspaper, periodical, unsealed circular, or other article of printed matter, (except books,) not over three ounces in weight, going by mail to any place in the United States, is one cent, and one cent additional for each additional ounce or fraction of an ounce. Only one half of these rates is charged when the postage is paid quarterly or yearly in advance. The postage on all transient matter, unless prepaid, shall be charged double the rates above first mentioned for newspapers and periodicals.

2. Packages of small newspapers, published monthly or oftener, and pamphlets not containing more than sixteen octavo pages, sent to one address, and weighing at least half a pound, prepaid by postage stamps, are rated at half a cent an ounce.

3. All printed matter, chargeable by weight, is to be weighed when dry.

4. Books bound, or unbound, not weighing over four pounds, are chargeable at the rate of one cent an ounce for distances under 3,000 miles, and two cents an ounce for greater distances. If not prepaid, the charge is one and a half cent an ounce for distances under 3,000 miles, and three cents an ounce for longer routes.

5. Each newspaper or periodical, not over one ounce and a half in weight, to any place in the State of its publication, is chargeable with half a cent postage.

6. Publishers of newspapers and periodicals may send to each other from their publication offices one copy of the same free of postage, and may enclose therein to actual subscribers, bills and receipts for such publications without postage charge.

7. The publishers of weekly newspapers may send to each actual subscriber within the county of publication, one copy thereof free of postage.

8. Newspapers and other printed matter cannot be sent at the foregoing rates, unless without covers or wrappers, or in covers or wrappers open at the ends or sides so that the character of their contents may be known: or, if any word or communication be printed on the same; after their publication, or any writing or other marks be placed thereon, or on the covers or wrappers, except the names and address of the persons to whom they are sent; or, if any paper, or other thing, be enclosed in or with such printed matter.

Newspapers, 2 cents each, prepayment required. Letters of the weight of $\frac{1}{4}$ oz. and under, by the Havre line, are subject in France to an additional postage of 30 centimes, (6 cents,) if destined to Havre; and 60 centimes (12 cents,) if destined to any other part of France or Algeria. These rates are respectively doubled on letters over $\frac{1}{4}$ oz., and not over $\frac{1}{2}$ oz. an additional rate being charged for each additional $\frac{1}{4}$ oz., or fraction thereof.

^{} The Asterisk () indicates that in cases where it is prefixed, prepayment is optional: in all other cases, prepayment is required.

Newspapers and periodicals are chargeable with the regular United States rates to and from the line, which postage must all be paid in the United States. Editors, however, may exchange free of expense.

UNITED STATES AND GREAT BRITAIN.

On either a letter or packet of any weight, the whole postage or none at all should be prepaid. If any thing less than the whole is prepaid, no account is taken of it, and it is entirely lost to the sender.

In respect to British Mails, where the official postage entries on the letters received are in red ink, the letter is to be considered as paid, and is to be delivered accordingly; where in black ink, as unpaid, and the postage is to be collected. Postage in such cases is either wholly paid or wholly unpaid. The credit and debit figures on such letters show, on the paid letters, the amount to be credited to the United States; on the unpaid letters, the amount charged to the United States by England; and these figures, "3 cents," "19 cents," "5 cents," "21 cents," &c., are solely for the convenience of the exchange offices in keeping the account with the British Post Office.

Newspapers 2 cents each, prepayment required. Pamphlets and periodicals 2 cents each, if not weighing over two ounces, and 4 cents an ounce or fraction of an ounce, if they exceed two ounces, to be collected in all cases in the United States. All such printed matter is subject to like additional charges in Great Britain, each country collecting its own postage on printed matter, whether the same is sent or received. No pamphlet can be sent weighing over 8 ounces, and no periodical over 16 ounces, without being subject to letter postage. Neither pamphlets nor periodicals are entitled to conveyance through England.

Newspapers sent, 8 cents, and newspapers received, 4 cents, to be collected in the United States.

Australia, by private ship from New York, 5 cents, prepayment required.

Newspapers and periodicals must be prepaid the regular domestic rates to San Francisco. The rate payable on letters at the point of destination in the Sandwich Islands is 5 cents, and on newspapers 2 cents each. In China and New South Wales the ship postage, it is understood, is comparatively trifling.

VALUABLE LETTERS, addressed to Germany, or any part of the German Austrian Postal Union, by the Bremen line via New York, or by the Prussian closed mail via New York and Boston, will be registered on the application of the person posting the same, in the same manner and on the same terms as those deliverable in the United States, provided that the full postage chargeable thereon to destination, together with a registration fee of five cents on each letter, is prepaid at the mailing office.

ON PAMPHLETS AND MAGAZINES, to or from the west coast of South America, the United States postage is 4 cents, and to or from all other foreign countries (except Great Britain and the British North American Provinces as above,) 1 cent an ounce or fraction of an ounce, to be collected in all cases in the United States.

Newspapers and Periodicals to foreign countries (particularly to the continent of Europe) must be sent in narrow bands, open at the sides or end; otherwise they are chargeable with letter postage.

All letters to and from foreign countries (the British North American Provinces excepted) are to be charged with single rate of postage, if not exceeding the weight of half an ounce; double rate, if exceeding half an ounce, but not exceeding an ounce; quadruple rate, if exceeding an ounce but not exceeding two ounces, and so on, charging two rates for every ounce or fractional part of an ounce over the first ounce. As this rule differs from that followed in respect to domestic letters, great care is requisite to prevent mistakes. Postmasters should be careful, also, where the postage is prepaid to collect the proper amount. They should be particular to notice the route indicated on the envelopes of letters, and to collect postage accordingly. Letters mailed at some offices, marked "via England," or "via Prussian Closed Mail," for a German State, are frequently taken upon the prepayment of Bremen rates, and those marked "via Bremen," at Prussian closed mail rates, &c.

If letters for foreign countries, marked "Paid," are dropped into the post office without being paid, the postmaster will erase the word "Paid," and write on the back of the letter, the words "Not Paid," with his name and title of postmaster.

In the case of letters to go through France, the French postage is rated by the quarter ounce for the single letter. This is 10 cents, except with reference to letters for Egypt, Syria, and Tunis, by French packet, when the single French rate is 20 cents. Therefore, the quarter ounce French rate only being embraced in the above rates for letters marked "via France," or "via Marseilles," the French rate on all such letters must be doubled for each quarter of an ounce.

FRANKING PRIVILEGE.

- 1. The President, the ex-Presidents, the Vice President, and ex-Vice Presidents, and the widows of deceased Presidents, are allowed to frank letters and documents agreeably to the provisions of the Act of March 3, 1825, and subsequent acts.
- 2. The heads of the U.S. executive departments, the Assistant Postmasters General, and other chiefs of bureaus connected with the government, including the Superintendent and Assistant Superintendent of the Coast Survey, and the General in chief and Adjutant General of the Army, may send and receive free letters and packages on official business.
- 3. Members of Congress and Delegates from Territories may send and receive free during their official terms, and till the first Monday of December following, letters and packages upon official business not exceeding two ounces in weight, and public documents not weighing over three pounds.
- 4. The Governors of States may frank laws, records, and documents of their respective legislatures to the Governors of other States.
- 5. Deputy postmasters may send and receive free letters and packets relating exclusively to their official business; and those whose compensation did not exceed $200 for the previous year may also send free letters written by themselves, and receive free those addressed to themselves, on their private business not exceeding half an ounce in weight. This does not include the correspondence of any member of their families, nor transient newspapers, or circulars.
- 6. Publishers of newspapers, pamphlets, and magazines, may interchange free a single copy thereof, when not exceeding sixteen ounces in weight.
- 7. Public documents are those printed by order of either House of Congress, and books or other publications purchased by either or both Houses for the use of their members.
- 8. The Secretary of the U. S. Senate, and the Clerk of the U. S. House of Representatives, during their official terms, may frank under the same restrictions as members of Congress.

POSTAGE STAMPS AND ENVELOPES.

- 1. These are furnished for sale only to postmasters.
- 2. They are allowed to purchase temporary supplies from other post offices for cash, but are expected as a rule to order from the department such quantity as they think will supply them three months.
 - 3. In selling envelopes the department expects of postmasters to be accommodating, but not to lose the fractions of a cent in disposing of small quantities. Accordingly, if they cannot readily make change the purchaser must tender the exact sum.

- 4. Postmasters are not allowed a commission for selling stamps or stamped envelopes, nor are purchasers in any case allowed a discount thereon. Neither are postmasters permitted to sell stamps for more than their face, or stamped envelopes for more than the Department charges for them.
- 5. The stamps and envelopes may be used in prepayment of postages to foreign countries in cases where such prepayment in money is allowable.
- 6. Persons attempting to use a stamp, or stamped envelope, in the payment of postage which has been previously used for a like purpose, subject themselves to a fine of fifty dollars.
- 7. Letters enclosed in stamped envelopes of the proper denomination may be carried out of the mail provided such envelopes are sealed.
 - 8. Stamps cut or separated from stamped envelopes cannot be used in the payment of postage.
- 9. No application enclosing money to the Department for stamps or stamped envelopes is attended to further than to return the money, and refer the applicant to a postmaster.
 - 10. It is a highly penal offence to counterfeit postage stamps or envelopes.

CHAPTER VIII.

MISCELLANEOUS.

1. Advertising Letters.—Postmasters, the gross receipts of whose offices do not exceed $500 a quarter, are to advertise the uncalled for letters once in six weeks. Those whose gross receipts are between $500 and $1,000 a quarter are to advertise such letters monthly. Where such receipts are over $1,000, and less than $7,500 a quarter, the advertisement is to be twice a month; and when they exceed $7,500 a quarter, it is to be weekly.

Such advertisements are to be inserted in one newspaper only, which must be printed in the city, town, or village in which the post office is situated, and must have the largest circulation within the range of delivery of said office of any paper issued weekly or oftener, printed in such city, town, or village. In places where no newspaper is printed, the postmaster is to post manuscript lists in conspicuous positions.

- 2. Dead Letters.—These are such as have been advertised, and have remained on hand three months or longer; also such as have been refused, or cannot be delivered; and those detained for the payment of postage, and not attended to, or for having been placed in the office bearing stamps previously used.
- 3. Lost Letters and Mail Depredations.—The Department does not hold itself responsible for money and other articles of value sent in the mail; but if they be lost, it will, on proper notice of such mishap, make efforts to discover the same; and, if ascertained to have been stolen, to punish the offender.

In every case of loss by mail, it should be informed without delay of the circumstances. The statement should set forth the names of the writer and depositor of the lost letter, and of the person addressed, as well as of the mailing office, and of that to which the letter was directed, the route over which it was to go, the time of mailing, and a description of the valuable enclosures, with any other particulars calculated to aid the Department in investigating the case.

No reported loss is investigated by the Department unless satisfactory evidence is furnished, by a statement of a postmaster, or other disinterested individual, that the missing valuable package was deposited in the post office.

4. Commissions of Postmasters.—The rates fixed by law as commissions on the quarterly postages collected are as follows: Sixty per cent. on the first $100, fifty per cent. on the next $300, forty per cent. on the next $2,000, and fifteen per cent. on sums exceeding $2,400. Seventy per cent. on the first $100 is allowed to offices where the mails arrive by contract between the hours of 9 P. M. and 5 A. M. Postmasters at the general distributing offices are allowed 12½ per cent. on letters received for distribution. The commissions on newspaper postages is fifty per cent. Postmasters whose commissions are less than $500 a quarter receive one cent for the delivery of each manuscript free letter not addressed to themselves, also two mills for each free weekly newspaper delivered to subscribers within the county of publication. No postmaster can retain as commissions over $2,000 a year, nor over $2,000 a year for box rents and other emoluments.

5. Mail Contracts.—The Union is divided into four sections, a letting for one of which takes place each spring. As the contracts are let for periods of four years, this arrangement keeps the entire service in continual operation.

The contracts for the routes in the New England States and New York, under the current term, run from 1 July, 1853, to 1 July, 1857. Those for the Middle States run from 1 July, 1856, to 1 July, 1860. Those for the Southern States from 1 July, 1855, to 1 July, 1859. Those for the Western, South-Western, and North-Western States, from 1 July, 1854, to 1 July, 1858.

6. Keeping Open of Post Offices, and Closing Mails.—Postmasters are required to keep their offices open for the dispatch of business every day except Sunday during the usual business hours in their respective localities, and to attend at such other hours as may be necessary to receive and send off mails. If mails come to their offices on Sunday, they are to keep their offices open one hour or more, if the public convenience require, after their arrival and assortment, unless this occurs during the hours of public worship, in which case they are to open them for an hour or more, if necessary, after the religious services have ceased.

The great mails are to be closed at distributing offices not more than an hour before the time fixed for their departure; and all other mails at such offices, and all mails at all other offices, not more than half an hour before such time. But if the time set for their departure is between 9 p. m. and 5 a. m. the mails are to be closed at 9 p. m.

- 7. Letter Carriers.—They are appointed by the Postmaster General on the nomination of postmasters, and are required to give bonds to the United States. Postmasters are authorized to place in their hands for delivery all letters received except those for persons having lodged with them a written request to retain the same in their offices. Such carriers are entitled to two cents for each letter, and half a cent for each newspaper delivered by them, unless otherwise directed by the Postmaster General.
- 8. Collection of the Revenue.—No money is allowed to be sent by postmasters to the Department in payment of their postage collections. The following indicates the process by which the establishment collects its revenues.

Of the 24,410 post offices existing on the 30th of June, 1855, 18,202 were styled "Collection," and instructed to pay over their quarterly proceeds to the mail contractors serving them with mails, or to such others as the Department might direct.

4,000 were styled "Special and Mail Messenger," and were directed to defray the expense of their mail supply out of their postage receipts.

1,199 were denominated "Deposite," and required to place their net proceeds in depositories prescribed by the Department.

1,009 were styled "Draft," and directed to hold their net postages subject to special drafts issued by the Postmaster General.

As the acknowledgments of payment taken by the postmasters from the individuals to whom they thus disburse their postage collections entitles them to corresponding credits on the books of the Auditor, it will be seen that this admirable financial system enables the Department to make complete quarterly settlements with both postmasters and contractors; in other words, with its debtors and creditors.

9. Letters, alleged to be valuable, posted at one post office in the United States, and deliverable at another such office, shall from and after the first day of July, 1855, be registered at the office of mailing, on the application of the person posting the same, and the payment of a registration fee of five cents. Such letters addressed to Canada may be registered on the same terms.

Postmasters are instructed to enter all such letters in a book to be prepared and kept for the purpose, to be called the Receipt Book (which, in small offices, will be prepared by stiching together the several sheets of blank receipts furnished by this Department,) containing blank receipts with a wide margin for a brief duplicate of each, as in Bank check books. The postmaster will enter in this margin the number of the receipt, the date of filling it, the name of the person to whom the letter is addressed, and of the place to which it is to be mailed. He will then fill up the receipt to correspond with this marginal entry, separate it from the margin, and deliver it to the person who deposited the letter.

POST-OFFICES AND POST-MASTERS

IN THE

UNITED STATES

ON THE SOTH OF JUNE, 1856.

WITH A STATEMENT OF THEIR POSTAGE RECEIPTS FOR THE YEAR ENDING 30TH OF JUNE, 1855.

Offices in the following list noted by dashes in the figure columns are such as failed to render complete returns to the Department during the year, or are of recent establishment.

The commissions of Postmasters are 60 per cent. on postage collections not exceeding $100 per quarter, 50 per cent. on the next $300, 40 per cent. on the next $2000, 15 per cent. on all sums over $2400; but no Postmaster can receive a larger compensation from commissions than $500 per quarter.
